

K-20 Data Project

The K-20 Data Project is a multi-faceted project which will incorporate High School Follow-up Reports, National Student Clearinghouse data, electronic transcripts for high school students, a new data transport system, and more. In this session, Susan Murray and Brett Carter will discuss the goals and outcomes of the project, demonstrate the College Readiness domain in GEMS, and talk about how high schools can become involved in this project.